

RECORD FIELD TO STAGE INTERCOLLEGIATE CROSS COUNTRY RUN

CARNEGIE HARRIER FAVORED FOR TITLE

Harold E. Dykeman Has Been Racing in Sensational Form.

RACE OVER LOCAL COURSE

Eighteen Colleges Have Nominated Teams For Event at Van Cortlandt.

Eastern cross-country runners see another menace from the other side of the Alleghenies in the person of Harold E. Dykeman, Carnegie Tech's sensational star, who is coming East on November 27 to make a strong bid for the intercollegiate cross-country championship. This event will be decided over the standard course at Van Cortlandt Park. Dykeman's entry was received yesterday at the I. C. A. A. A. headquarters, adding one more name to the list of stars who will battle for the individual title.

With Mal Douglas, Yale's star distance runner, also among the latest entries, officials in charge of the meet predicted that the struggle for first and second place would reach a new high level this year, the fourteenth annual championship race and the second in succession held over the New York course.

Walter Higgins, the Columbia luminary, had his first encounter with Dykeman at the Syracuse invitation run, and the Carnegie Tech man led the two-mile champion to the tape by a comfortable margin, winning by six seconds. Up to last year Dykeman had never taken part in a race of any kind, but he is now the outstanding figure in the cross country field. He has never been beaten by an opposing runner and he holds the Tech record, made against Ohio State last season.

The Higgins-Dykeman duel will be renewed on November 27, and the Columbia man will also have his hands full with E. C. McManus of Pennsylvania, who battled him down the stretch in the quadrangular meet last Saturday. Higgins won handsomely and he is now pointed for the cross-country title, which has never been won by a Columbia runner. He was kept out of the competition last fall and ran second to Romig in 1920, losing by a small margin. If Higgins runs to his form of last summer, when he carried off the intercollegiate two-mile title, it will be a hard fight to keep him from leading the pack.

Other entries made public yesterday were those of J. G. Young, Dartmouth captain; R. E. Hendricks, M. I. T. first place winner in the Cornell-M. I. T. dual run; Capt. E. B. Kirby of Cornell; Don Hood and S. Kerr of Pennsylvania; and Homer Smith, the Syracuse leader. Carnegie Tech, the only entry west of the Alleghenies, is sending a strong team along with Dykeman.

Eighteen colleges will take part, and the entries number 237, a new record. For the third annual freshman title race the same afternoon thirteen teams and 150 entries have been named.

Harvard

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 18.—Johnnie Waters, the freshman cross-country captain, will not have a chance to show his wares in the freshman intercollegiate as Harvard will not enter a team.

Some student is Helme Dunker, Harvard tackle. Last year he had to earn five A's in studies in addition to playing football and acting as captain of the freshman track team.

Charles C. Nant, 25, of New York city, has been elected a business editor of the Crimson.

Carl Chandler, track manager, is chairman of a committee which will nominate candidates for the various class day officers from the membership of the senior class.

Karl Pfaffmann, the football player, has been placed in charge of the operation of the junior class smokers.

Franklin S. Pollak of New York has been elected president of the Woodrow Wilson Club. The vice-president, Robert P. Koenig, is also from New York.

Columbia

Walter Higgins, captain of last season's track team and present holder of the intercollegiate two-mile title, in June, looms up as the probable winner of the intercollegiate cross-country championship to be run over the Van Cortlandt Park course a week from tomorrow. During the quadrangular run among the "Big Four"—Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania—Higgins won the race from Elmer O. McLane, winner of the intercollegiate freshman race last fall, in a stirring finish, beating him to the tape by about ten yards. Higgins, who is a big, powerful shoulder until fifty yards from the finish.

Although this year's meeting will be the fourteenth annual run, a Columbia runner has never succeeded in winning the title, so Blue and White supporters are banking on Higgins to annex the Lion's first victory.

Columbia has a clear claim to the national metropolitan cross-country championship, for all of Father Knickerbocker's charges, except Columbia, bowed before Rutgers. Columbia overcame Rutgers and seven Blue and White runners came in before the first Scarlet and Blue man, the local's winning with the lowest possible score of 17. Rutgers then defeated Fordham and New York University in a dual meet and N. Y. U. in turn took the measure of the City College harriers.

Bill Walker, assistant manager of the football team, was a little scalyham earlier named Jasper, which came from England. Bill had him at South Field Wednesday and the pup had a grand time chasing the football that was tossed around by the assistant manager. After going after the pigskin for a while the dog got wise that he could carry the ball by getting his teeth in the lacing and brought it back to his master. We suppose that when Gus Peterson was looking over the footballs following practice he found tooth marks on one of them and wondered which one of the players had been sampling them.

With two weeks remaining before the first basketball game for the Blue and White, the candidates for the court team are working hard every afternoon in the gym. The schedule will be released some time this week, according to Robert W. Watt, the graduate manager, with the first contest carded for December 4.

Captain of Lafayette

LEHECKA CAPTAIN OF LAFAYETTE ELEVEN

Cornell

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Henry Schenck of Brooklyn, N. Y., a junior, must have been born with a rabbit's foot in his hand, for Henry has run into quite a streak of luck lately. With one 12 cent chance in a pool made up to send the lucky individual to the Dartmouth game the acquired trip, and a day or two later, with another single chance, he won a Ford car. Henry is now looking for a pool on the Pennsylvania game.

Varsity basketball practice is in full swing daily in the drill hall. The squad numbers thirty, but football players will be eligible after their season closes. Experienced men on the floor are Capt. Jimmy Luther, right forward; G. H. Capron and T. H. Crabtree, all three seniors of last year's team; and C. F. Wenell, also a varsity man last season, until illness forced him out of the lineup. George Pfann, Charles Cassidy and Don Post of the varsity eleven are to report for basketball next month.

An interfraternity league of twenty-four teams is to be organized. The new winter club house, Graduate Manager Berry says, ought to be ready for occupancy by December 1.

Mr. Berry also has gone on record to the effect that Cornell is not going into the big stadium business. The recent appointment of an expert designer to study plans for enlarging Schoellkopf Field means merely that Cornell would like to take better care of her friends who are coming for football games and cannot now be properly accommodated. If the stands are enlarged the job will be on a modest scale at least for the present.

Dartmouth

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 18.—Dartmouth's athletic council has passed a new eligibility ruling that allows only the men who have attained a scholastic average of 2.0 from entering the sophomore management competition. This raising of the standard for the student managers of sports is the latest change effected since the introduction of the competition. A better class of men is expected to result from the new ruling and a better showing in freshman scholarship may also come from the new requirements.

Coach George Zahn of the basketball team arrived in town to-day and will get his floor under way with a jump. All candidates will be called out on Monday and strict training will be put into force at once. About sixty men are expected to report. Zahn has coached the Green for the last three years.

The Dartmouth Athletic Council is now forming a new set of eligibility rules for the winning of basketball letters so that the winter game will be virtually a major sport in years if successful results are at Hanover. The straight "D" will be awarded men making a good showing in the intercollegiate League, thereby placing basketball almost on a par with football, baseball and track. The swimming squad has been cut to sixty men by Coach Hazelton. Other winter sports are now getting under way. Coach Kane, and Capt. Egger are working with the gym team on dates. The wrestlers are already getting into trim and the rifle team is prepared to open its season the first week in December. Indoor track work will start on December 4.

Bucknell

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 18.—The Bucknell basketball management has completed a twenty-one game schedule for the coming season. Of the games played fifteen will be debited on foreign floors, with the remaining six at home in Turin Gymnasium.

Eight teams not appearing on last year's schedule have been booked for contests this year, including Albright, Hobart, Cornell, Navy, Rutgers, West Virginia, Bethany, Swarthmore and Franklin and Marshall. All the new games will be played away from the exception of that with Albright and Swarthmore, which will be met on the home floor.

The schedule is one of the best that an Orange and Blue quintet has faced for many seasons, opening with Juniata at home on January 13 and running through until the middle of March, when the last match will be played with F. and M.

Candidates will be called out immediately after the Thanksgiving recess and an early working combination should be organized from among Dietrich, who was captain for the last two seasons; Bill Dayton, Julian, Hall, Butler, Foster, Huntington, MacFarland and Capt. E. C. All of the men have seen service in college basketball, with seven of them wearing the Bucknell varsity "B."

Princeton

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PRINCETON, Nov. 18.—No Princeton man, not even the youngest, follows Princeton athletics with greater interest than the senior member of the University faculty, Theodore W. Hunt, 65, Professor Emeritus of English. Dr. Hunt, who has coached the Princeton intercollegiate football game ever played in America (or for that matter in the world, according to Park H. Davis, 75), the Princeton intercollegiate basketball game, and the Princeton following football and other college sports ever since and rejoices when Princeton wins. He does not often express his joy in print. But when the fighting Princeton coach, stopped Chicago on the 1 yard line, Dr. Hunt gave vent to his feelings in the following lines:

"Hold the line, the captain said, not a foot they'll move, nowhere let there be a break, hold the line."
"Hold the line, the captain said, fellows, one and all, listen to your captain's call, hold the line."
"Hold the line, the captain said, for old Nassau contest; for Eastern prowess against the West, hold the line."
"We will hold, the Tigers said, trust do not to fail, not a man will yield or quail, we will hold the line."
"With our backs against the wall, here we stand or die, Stag's eleven we defy, holding fast the line, we will hold, the Tigers said, trust do not to fail, not a man will yield or quail, we will hold the line."

Hard luck has paid more than one visit to the person of Frank Fagenkopf, a plucky little sophomore who was considered first string quarterback material early this season. He was the only regular seriously hurt this season.

"Peggy" came to Princeton from Lake Forest Academy and was one of the 1925 stars last year until he had the ligament of his knee torn in the initial encounter, but the following week he twisted his knee out of joint and was out for three weeks. He returned the Monday before the Swarthmore game in practice scrimmage. He has been on crutches ever since, but is eagerly looking forward to another chance next season.

The Hobart Baker Memorial Rink, which is nearing completion and will stand as a monument to "Hobey" Baker, former Tiger hockey star and hero of the great war, needs only $45,000 to complete the complete cost of construction according to the latest statement from the chairman of the Baker Fund Committee, $204,577.50 have already been received from 3,493 subscribers, 1,381 of whom are Princeton graduates.

Williams

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Nov. 18.—Williams College has started to-day for practically the entire student body went to Amherst to attend the annual football game with Amherst. The Purple season comes to an end with this contest, the only other gridiron event scheduled being the annual sophomore-freshman tussle, which is slated for next week.

With the assistance of Bourne, Chandler, Dickie, Farnsworth, Leete, King and Fisher, all of whom are members of the varsity, the sophomores hope to break the series of defeats met at the hands of their first year rivals when the football game is decided. Thus far the freshmen have been victorious in baseball, track, soccer and in the annual tug of war. The entering class at Williams this fall is unusually strong in sports.

Brown

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 18.—Within another ten days the gridiron season of 1922 at Brown will be history. The next to last chapter was written to-day at Cambridge in the Harvard stadium and the last chapter will be set down next Saturday after the Brown Bear and Dartmouth Indians have clashed at Fenway Park in Boston. Will the Neldinger of Dartmouth, with his educated toe, be a nemesis to the Brown team as was his brother, who defeated the Bears for the Yale bulldog? That is a question that many a Brown man is anxiously awaiting the answer to.

As football is about to make its 1922 exit the Brown Bear is already beginning to look over some of the other athletic uniforms he will wear during the winter. He has already put on his swimming trunks for practice work and finds them to fit well. Basketball, wrestling and track suits have also been taken from their lockers. And not least of all Bruin is polishing up his foreman's for the coming triangular debating contests in which he will compete against Columbia, Wesleyan, Penn. Yale, Cornell, Dartmouth and Williams. Tryouts for the varsity teams in this branch of mental athletics begin next Tuesday, November 21.

Pennsylvania

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—Penn's swimmers will open the season December 15 with C. C. N. Y. in the metropolitan "Vic" meet, the fifty yard specialist, is captain of this year's Red and Blue tankmen. Rimer, a 220 yard man; Cordova, of last year's freshman team; Durman, a former freshman sprint swimmer; Gardner, a 225 yard performer; and Newman, a plunger, appear the best of Coach Kistler's squad.

Coach Eddie McNichol of the Penn varsity basketball team is on the look-out for a center to fill the shoes of Bill Grave, who has been graduated. Brew, who was a substitute last year, may get the call, but he lacks experience. Brew is six foot four inches. Al Voegelin and "Boss" Miller of football fame probably will hold down the guard positions, while Goldblatt, Deasen and George Sullivan look like the best of the forward candidates.

Penn has another flashy soccer team this year which is in the running for the intercollegiate title. Coach Stewart's Yord and Blue tankers still have two more league games to play. Harvard will appear at Franklin Field December 2, and Princeton comes here December 3.

Syracuse

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. SYRACUSE, Nov. 18.—Now that the football season has come to a close at Syracuse University all eyes will now be turned to the basketball team here for the court game is the big sport feature of the winter at Chancellor Flint's institution of learning.

One of the best schedules arranged for a Syracuse team in years is to be played this winter with eleven contests to be played on the court in the Archbold gymnasium and nine away from here. Just as last winter home and home games have been booked with Colgate and Cornell, and these are the big games for Coach Eddie Doherty's basketball team. The schedule follows: December 9, Clarkson Tech here; 17,

C. C. N. Y.

Coach Nat Holman has worked wonders with the basketball team of late, and it is fast rounding into form that compares favorably with last year's championship team. He has been using Capt. Klauber and Nadel at forward, Curran at center and Edelman and Hahn at guard, but Edelman, a veteran of the 1921-22 team, has been loaning a seat and he has been switched to the second team at times, either Match or Sals supplanting him.

Jack Schlierman will report to-morrow, since the football season closed yesterday, and is expected to give Curran a stiff battle for the center position. Schlierman played on the freshman team last year, while Curran was understudy to Cliff Anderson.

The annual fresh-soph. debate held Thursday resulted in a 2-1 victory for the '23 team. Driscoll, Katz and Wessman represented the winners. The subject was that the United States cancel the debt owing to it by Europe.

Evening practice is the latest item on the schedule of the C. C. N. Y. wrestling team. The classes of several of the matmen and the available time of their volunteer coach, Silver, made the chance advisable.

Interclass tournaments in several sports are to take place shortly. The interclass water polo tourney begins this week and the interclass ice skating will be organized. Two years ago

Shooting under unfavorable conditions C. P. Williams, 1923, succeeded in setting a new record of 27 straight birds the longest run ever obtained by any member of a Yale gun team, this week. This record was formerly held by Capt. Boyle, 1923, who shot 64 straight birds last year. S. P. Blackmer, 1924, also did some good shooting, breaking 75 birds out of a possible 80.

The Yale-Harvard game next Saturday will draw the greatest gathering of old Yale football players in the history of the game here. They are coming from as far as the Pacific coast. The Yale Club, the New Haven home of old Yale athletes, is preparing for the greatest rush since it was opened. Extra cots have been ordered by the score and the place will be one of the busiest in an extremely busy city.

Union

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. SCHENECTADY, Nov. 18.—Harry McManus of this city, coach of the Schenectady Red Life Saving Corps, is again appointed coach of the college swimming team. He is a member of the Intercollegiate Swimming Association. L. Job Lane of the class of '24 is the new captain of the tank men for the coming season. Lane is largely instrumental in making swimming one of the recognized minor sports at the college. D. H. Gidley, a member of the Delta Phi fraternity, is manager of the team.

Members of the football team who will also play on the basketball court will report for the first practice shortly, and indications are Union will have a strong 'five on the court this season, when Yale College quintet will be one of the big attractions. Northrop, Bellinger and Nitchman, members of the varsity football team, were regulars on the varsity squad last season and will again don the garnet uniform. According to Manager Duane, the schedule has not definitely been settled. However, the first contest of the season will be with the New York State Teachers College five on December 5.

Holy Cross

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 18.—The most successful rehearsal of the year was held by the Holy Cross Glee Club yesterday, when sixty candidates reported. Four separate quartets are to be formed. The first public concert will take place just previous to the Christmas holidays.

United States Senator David L. Walsh, noted alumnus, visited the college this past week, being entertained by the Rev. J. J. Carlin, president. Candidates for the university basketball team will report on Monday for the final workout. There will be three vacancies to fill this season, but Coach Casey looks for some good prospects from the freshman class. The schedule will be issued in a few days, and calls for eighteen games during a trip through New York State during the holidays.

The football game with Fordham yesterday closed the home schedule for 1922. The team will have two weeks before the big game.

Rutgers

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 18.—The faculty heads have turned down the huge petition subscribed to by practically every Rutgers student, asking for the return to eligibility of Homer Hazel, the star fullback of the 1916 team, who left college that year, worked in Michigan mines for five years, later became a married man and with two children returned to college. He failed in some spring work, but passed similar courses during the last Columbia University summer session.

The administration committee has answered with a letter in which it is pointed out that Hazel had not the privilege of removing freshmen's second-year deficiencies by examination or summer courses.

No wonder the Rutgers freshmen are a cheery bunch this fall. In addition to other favors they have been declared winners of the interclass track meet, scoring 69 points, a total more than all other classes put together.

Amherst

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. AMHERST, Mass., Nov. 18.—Freshman initiations, alumni council meeting, the annual Amherst-Williams football game and an alumni smoker were all on the program at Amherst this past week end. About 72 per cent. of the freshman class is pledged to some one of the twelve fraternities, and most of these were initiated on Thursday and Friday evening. Between three and four hundred alumni were back by Friday morning and more arrived for the football game Saturday.

The alumni council discussed principally the proposed plan of alumni initiation and study. President Melkielehn spoke at a buffet luncheon served them Friday noon in college hall. Election of officers followed another meeting held in Williston Hall Saturday morning. The annual Amherst-Williams football game was played on Pratt Field Saturday afternoon. The winner of this game is credited with four points in the trophy of trophies, which was presented by R. Johnson, Williams '09, to perpetuate the rivalry between the two colleges. All major and minor sports, together with debating, count in the scoring. The trophy must be won five times for permanent possession.

Fordham

The football season will come to a close on Saturday of this week, when the Maroon journeys to Allentown, there to meet Muhlenberg. It will be the tenth game of the season for Fordham.

Despite the agitation on the part of a goodly number of students to have Fordham represented this winter by a hockey team, it was definitely announced during the week that the Maroon will have to wait another season before another ice sextet will be organized. Two years ago

Lafayette

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. EASTON, Pa., Nov. 18.—Completely cooled by the one week of light work and once more eager for hard drilling, the Lafayette College football squad will begin real practice to-morrow afternoon in preparation for the annual game with Rensselaer University here this Saturday afternoon on March Field.

Lafayette was very much used up by the stiff grueling received in the successive struggles with Bucknell, Boston College, Washington and Jefferson and Rutgers. But the absence of a game yesterday enabled Coach Sutherland to give his varsity squad several days of rest and they are all set for the stiff work ahead of them.

This Saturday's game will be the fifty-sixth meeting between Lafayette and Lehigh. The first match was played way back in 1884. It was the custom to play two games each year and in 1891 three were staged, Lafayette winning all three. This arrangement of two games a year continued until 1907 when one game was dropped.

In the fifty-five games played thus far Lafayette has a decided edge on Lehigh in that the local team has succeeded in gaining the upper hand on thirty occasions. Lehigh has triumphed twenty-three times, while two games ended in a tie. Lafayette won the first game in 1884 and the last in 1921. Lehigh won her first in 1887 and her last in 1918.

Each institution has held the upper hand for a period of years. Lafayette twice has won four years straight, while Lehigh never has been able to pass the three year mark. The Brown and White, however, has the longer run of consecutive wins, with six from 1888 to 1891. From 1893 to 1901 Lafayette won five straight and prevented Lehigh from scoring a single point. From 1887 to 1892 Lehigh won every game with the exception of a tie in 1889. Then Lafayette won from 1894 to 1902, the Brown and White gaining but two victories in fourteen games. Lafayette continued to win regularly until 1912, losing but three games in the ten years. Then the pendulum swung to Lehigh, who won five of the next thirty-six. Lafayette now has won three straight years and is a strong favorite to win on Saturday.
